Washington, DC--Formtek Inc., a leading provider of Enterprise Content Management (ECM) software and implementation services, announced today that it will team with Imagenet LLC, a specialist in document conversion services, to provide a comprehensive document management solution at Fairchild Air Force Base (AFB). Imagenet will convert tens of thousands of legacy facility drawings into electronic documents and the Formtek | Orion Facilities Document Management (FDM) business application solution will store and manage the engineering documents.

Formtek will implement a content management system complete with high security access controls and standards compliance. The overall solution provides Fairchild AFB with a secure electronic storage area for facility drawings. Under Formtek | Orion, only authorized users will be able to access, review, and make edits to the drawings. Users will also benefit from Formtek's enhanced search capabilities and easy to use interface.

"Together with Imagenet, we are providing a complete and cost-effective document management system for Fairchild Air Force Base," said Dennis Scanlon, COO Formtek Inc. "Our partnership frees up storage areas and rids the base of inflexible and fragile paper copies. Users can rest assured that valuable drawings are securely stored in an easy-to-access electronic format."
