Concord, CA USA — Formtek, Inc., a leading provider of advanced Enterprise Content Management solutions and services, today announced that they have signed a partnership agreement with Storageplex Limited, headquartered in Nova Scotia, Canada. As part of this agreement, Storageplex will leverage its experience and expertise to develop and market a comprehensive healthcare risk management solution, built using the combined foundation technologies of Formtek and Storageplex.

The proposed solution is a dashboard, based on best practices, allowing individual hospitals to address their own key areas of risk as outlined by the Canadian Council on Health Services Accreditation CCHSA and the USA Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO). Storageplex intends to market the solution to hospitals, health networks, and ambulatory care centers throughout Canada, the US and the Caribbean.

“There exists no comprehensive Risk Management Solution in Healthcare. Many hospitals have utilized existing IT systems or developed customized systems which are proprietary in nature,” said Bill Fleming, Storageplex’s President and CEO. “These systems have limited capability for sharing information. As a result, many hospitals continue to use spreadsheet solutions for which the effectiveness and reliability is dependent upon the diligence and accuracy of the individuals using them. Hospitals need solutions that mitigate this key area of risk”

“We are very pleased to welcome Storageplex to Formtek’s Collaborative Partner Program,” said Gary Mann, Formtek’s CEO. “Formtek’s extensive software development tools, including JAVA APIs and Web Services, lend themselves well to partners intent on developing specific solutions that leverage best-in-class document and content management technologies. We are also dedicated in our efforts to provide Storageplex, and our other partners, with the training, technical support, and marketing assistance necessary to ensure success.

About Storageplex. Storageplex Limited is a solutions provider of enterprise content management focused on the healthcare, marine, and telecommunication industry. Storageplex offers integration services as well as host based online data document repository and electronic medical record file sharing services for the healthcare professional and remote clinics. The company was founded in August 2001 with the knowledge that businesses are searching for cost effective solutions to manage their data, to protect and extract its value and to in-turn, drive profitability. The professional user is also searching for a reliable, easy-to-use, and secure way to access their data when and where required. With corporate digital data continuing to proliferate at an explosive pace, and with the increasing regulatory requirements on protection and accountability, smart data management and secure access strategies are essential to the success of the business.
